

We've loaded this gold clutch by Kaia Peterka with everything you'll need (clockwise from top left):

- Shaper mini hair spray
- Tissues
- Purell hand sanitizer
- Digital camera
- Fully charged cell phone
- Benefit Justine Case
- Bliss hand cream
- Hollywood Fashion Tape
- Advil
- Tide To Go
- Clean and Clear Oil Absorbing Sheets

- Kate Spade business card holder
- Glide Floss To Go
- Listerine Breath Freshening Strips
- Bobby pins
- Krazy Glue To Go
- Go Smile Teeth Whitening
- Ms. Manicure mini nail files
- Band Aids
- Safety pins
- Hair tie
- Ted Gibson Hair Sheet

Pack your purse

Be prepared for any emergency – fashion or otherwise

by Gabriela Marks

So you've picked out a fantastic clutch to go with your look, and now you're trying to figure out what to put in it. We've got you covered with our well-packed purse.

Benefit's Justine Case (www.benefitcosmetics.com) is the perfect kit to hold all of your touch-up needs.

"You have everything you need in one kit," explains Sara Reischman of Benefit. "You've got concealer, lip and cheek stain, under-eye cream and lip gloss. It's a perfect product to throw in your handbag."

Hollywood Fashion Tape (www.hollywoodfashiontape.com) is a must for any fashion emergency. The easy-to-use, clear double-stick tape adheres to your body and clothing. But also throw in a couple safety pins in your purse. You never know when they'll come in handy.

For your hair, stick a mini hair spray in your bag to combat any flyways. A Ted Gibson Hair Styling Sheet can also help fix any hair emergencies.

No room for your wallet? Try using a pretty business card holder instead. They'll hold your basics – driver's license, credit card, cash, etc. – and still look cute in your bag.

Some standard items to keep in your purse include: tissues, hand sanitizer, hand cream, OTC anti-inflammatory, safety pins and Band-Aids.

And if you find yourself with some extra room, throw in a solid perfume or mini perfume to freshen up and some clear nail polish to fix any chips you get during the night.